Agree Foreign Aid Bill Has to Be Passed

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders have agreed that the foreign aid program, now legally penniless, should be mailed out until the end of the month while Congress tries to work out its future.

That may take some time, since the House and the Senate differ on temporary as well as long-term foreign aid legislation.

By the letter of the law, the Agency for International Development ran out of money at midnight.

But John A. Hannah, AID director, already had passed word that the 12,400 agency employees here and abroad should keep doing business today.

Hannah was quoted as saying he would worry about where the money would come from.

Facing the midnight deadline, President Nixon summoned congressional leaders of both parties to the White House Monday to ask again for passage of a resolution to continue foreign aid.

The House already has passed one, extending until the adjournment of the current session of Congress.

But key Senate Democrats had balked at continuing by resolution a foreign aid program rejected by the Senate on Oct. 29, then reassembled in a scaled-down version.

However, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said the leaders agreed Monday to a resolution renewing spending authority until Dec. 1.

He said they did so because the House plans a 10-day recess beginning Friday, and that doesn't leave time for action on the regular foreign aid bill.

House leaders, meanwhile, were working on a seldom-used parliamentary maneuver to get a foreign aid bill of $2.9 billion to $3 billion through the House without a direct vote.

Under the proposed procedure, the House would vote not on a new foreign aid bill but only on whether to send one to a House-Senate conference committee.

Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said the maneuver was being considered for speed, not because of fear the House might defeat a new aid bill.

Supreme Court Raises Lawyer License Fees

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court said Monday that Supreme Court license fees will be raised from $2 to $17 per calendar year, effective Jan. 1.

The high court, in a per curiam order, said the fee is payable between Jan. 1 and March 1, after which a penalty of $1 is attached. A lawyer who has not paid by the deadline is automatically suspended from practice.

The court said the increase was needed to provide funds for a full-time executive secretary to the Committee on Professional Conduct, which was established to hear and investigate complaints of violations of the rules of professional conduct.

Quorum Court Hikes Budget to $92,704

The Hempstead County Quorum Court met Monday and appropriated a 1972 budget totaling $92,704.86. This compares with a budget of $86,293.18 appropriated last year for operating County government in 1971, an increase of $6,411.68.

The major increase came in creation of a new department. The group appropriated $2,000 for a Hempstead Child Development Center. Other increases included was $1,410 more for the County Health Nurse; $66 more for Health Center typists; $1,150 for the Hempstead Rescue Unit; $500 more for Soil Conservation clerical help and $600 more for the Juvenile Court Referee.

The appropriations follow:
County Court $300.00
Justice Court 300.00
Civil Court 5,000.00
Jail Expense 3,000.00

G & F Agrees to Wildlife Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission agreed Monday to establish a wildlife management area in Perry and Saline counties, northwest of Little Rock.

The area of about 150,000 acres, including Lake Winona, will be known as the Winona Wildlife Management Area.

Andrew H. Hulsey, director of the commission, said an agreement could be worked out with landowners in the area.

Red China Lashes U.S. in Maiden UN Speech

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist China in its maiden speech in the United Nations lined up against the two superpowers and demanded U.S. withdrawal from Indochina and Nationalist-held Taiwan.

Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua sounded those themes in the General Assembly in a 25-minute response Monday night to welcoming speeches from the United States, the Soviet Union and 55 other countries.

Chiao's delegation took the seats in the 131-nation assembly that up to three weeks ago were held by The Nationalist Chinese.

The delegation was expected to cast its first vote today—on a resolution calling on the U.S.

Says Act Will Aid Industrial Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan said Monday that an amendment to the Revenue Act of 1971 which was passed Monday by the Senate would aid Arkansas' industrial development.

The amendment, which was co-sponsored by McClellan, would remove restrictions on tax exempt industrial development bonds on issues up to $5 million.

government to ignore an order of Congress to resume chrome imports from Rhodesia despite a Security Council embargo.

Chiao, gaunt and gray haired, was applauded for 27 seconds when he took the podium.

He thanked the welcome and said that only "obstruction by the United States" had prevented mainland China from coming sooner.

He added that Peking's presence now was a defeat for a U.S.-Japanese plan to create two Chinas in the United Nations and "a victory for Chairman Mao Tse-tung's revolutionary line in foreign affairs."

Small countries "are uniting to oppose the hegemony and power politics practiced by the one or two superpowers," Chiao said.

Army Told to Prepare for Troop Cuts

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Gen.

Creighton W. Abrams has been told to plan on a U.S. force of between 60,000 and 95,000 troops in Vietnam by June 30, informed sources disclosed today.

This does not mean that President Nixon won't cut strength below these so-called "planning goals," the sources said. They emphasized that the figures sent Abrams by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington "was only a goal toward which he should plan and not an order."

Prior to his announcement of a new withdrawal program last Friday, Nixon was reported in Saigon thinking in terms of a force of 40,000 to 50,000 Americans by the end of June. Instead he announced a cutback of 45,000 troops during the next two months, reducing the authorized ceiling to 139,000 men by the end of January.

The planning goal was sent to Abrams several weeks before Nixon's announcement. But informed sources said it is still valid as far as they know even through the withdrawal rate programmed by Nixon for the next two months would cut the total force to less than 30,000 men if maintained through June.

No Chance of Cutting Off War Funds

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to halt U.S. war operations in Indochina by cutting off the money headed for a House vote today with virtually no chance of approval.

An organization of GI prisoner-of-war families supported the war-money cutoff but even House proponents expected its defeat.

The amendment by Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., to a $71-billion defense appropriation bill, would stop funds for all U.S. combat and military support operations in Indochina June 1 subject to release of American prisoners.

The Senate twice has approved Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's war deadlines and the House came within 22 votes of accepting one last month on a 215-193 procedural vote.

But not even the Senate has gone so far as to vote a war-money cutoff.

"Congress should urge an early end to the war just as often as it can," said Rep. Howard W. Robison, R-N.Y., who said he would oppose the fund cutoff after voting for the Mansfield war-deadline amendments.

Showing of Nudist Films Banned

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Court Judge John Goodson has issued a permanent injunction against the Capri theater here, banning the showing of any films "advocating a nudist camp."

Goodson said he was basing his decision on state legislation prohibiting "the establishment of a nudist camp or other place of business where nudity is encouraged."

He said that if his injunction violated the theater will be "permanently padlocked for a period of 12 months."

"This court has a deep-seated feeling that it is the duty of the court to interpret and not to legislate," he said. "Testimony in this case has shown that nudism is practiced on the screen and that nudist camps are shown on the screen."

Railway Agreement May Prove First Big Test of Wage Guidelines

Reports China Slipping Spies Into the U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Confidential Justice Department reports say a Hong Kong-based seamen's union is slipping Chinese Communists into the United States on espionage missions.

A secret FBI analysis included in government reports obtained by The Associated Press says the Hong Kong Seamen's Union is putting members aboard flagships of non-Communist nations to sabotage or capture the ships in case of war or to jump ship in non-Communist nations and engage in espionage activities.

The reported entry of the union seamen has contributed to the wave of illegal aliens from mainland China who, according to other Justice Department reports, have been sneaking into the United States at the rate of 4,200 each year.

In addition to espionage activities, the intelligence reports say, some Chinese aliens have been arrested carrying narcotics shipments destined for U.S. markets.

According to the reports, the Chinese aliens have been entering the country by jumping ship in Canada and being smuggled across the U.S. border, or by jumping ship in U.S. ports.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service—the Justice Department section responsible for capturing illegal aliens—has had some success in working with Canadian authorities to smash several of the smuggling rings, but INS sources say that no sooner is one ring closed down than another springs up. And, the sources say, only one in 10 of the illegal Chinese aliens is caught and deported.

Just last week INS broke up a ring smuggling Chinese sailors from Vancouver, British Columbia, into the United States at Bellingham and Blaine, Wash., at $1,000 per man.

One group of Chinese aliens was captured as the men crossed the border on foot a mile east of Blaine. Another group made it to the New York metropolitan area. Three of them, arrested in Newark, N.J., told investigators they first made contact with the smugglers in Hong Kong.

Elderly Folks Warned Phony Social Security Group in Operation

Otis A. Blackwood, District Manager of the Texarkana Social Security Office reports that there have been recent incidents in the Hempstead County area of certain individuals coming to the homes of elderly people representing themselves to be social security employees.

These individuals have told these elderly people that they are there to determine if they need an increase in their social security checks. These individuals are obviously confidence men whose intent is to obtain money from unsuspecting retired people, Blackwood said.

For example one incident was reported of a retired man being offered a certain amount of money if he would give the stranger change for a $100 bill. The stranger told the man he wanted to pay him cash for a retroactive increase due him in his social security.

Mr. Blackwood cautions people in this area not to become a victim of this or similar illegal schemes. Anyone suspected of misrepresenting himself as a social security representative should be reported at once to local law enforcement officials. He also emphasized that the amount of a person's social security benefit is based entirely on the amount of the worker's average yearly earnings under social security. No social security representative will offer an individual cash payment of any social security benefit. Social Security benefits are paid only by U.S. Treasury Department checks.

Blackwood stated that all Social Security Representatives carry identification card.

I would like to emphasize again Blackwood said, that anyone suspected of falsely claiming to be a social security representative should be reported immediately to the local law enforcement authorities. Such persons, if apprehended and convicted, are punishable under federal law.

Teacher Decision Due Today

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroad signalmen's union announced today tentative agreement on a new 42-month contract that may prove to be the first big test of the Pay Board's post-freeze wage guidelines.

Terms of the settlement were not immediately announced, but it was thought likely it would follow the pattern set by many earlier settlements providing other rail unions with wage increases averaging 42 per cent over 42 months.

This is roughly 12 per cent a year, which exceeds the Pay Board's general rule that new contracts may not contain increases of more than 5.5 per cent a year.

Charles J. Chamberlain, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said terms of the agreement will be announced Saturday when the union's 75 general chairmen meet in Chicago to ratify the pact.

Chamberlain said he intended to consult with the Pay Board about the agreement.

Contracts covering more than 5,000 workers must receive advance approval by the Pay Board before they may become effective. The signalmen claim 12,000 members, so apparently this requirement will apply to them.

"We're investigating all these things," Chamberlain said. "We don't anticipate any problems. But there are unknowns."

The Pay Board has indicated through informed sources that it is inclined to let earlier rail agreements stand, since they came after a long period of rising prices in which rail workers received no wage increases.

Contracts that existed during the freeze are allowed to stand unless challenged and found to be "unreasonably inconsistent" with the 5.5 per cent rule.

However, in considering both existing contracts and new contracts the board has left itself plenty of leeway to approve raises higher than 5.5 per cent a year if circumstances warrant.

The Pay Board, meantime, met for the first time today since the freeze expired.

It was expected to consider whether to grant teachers retroactive pay for wage increases held up during the freeze.

Jury Returns No True Bill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Craighead County Grand Jury returned a no true bill Monday after hearing testimony from 10 persons into the death Aug. 12 of Guy Harry Elliott, 51, of Jonesboro.

Elliott was shot once in the forehead with a .308-caliber scope-mounted rifle at the garage behind his home. The bullet was fired from the kitchen of his home.

Thomas West Elliott, 16, son of the deceased, was arrested by police, but was freed shortly after the shooting on $2,500 bond pending the grand jury hearing.

Balance of Payments Deficit Hits Record

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's balance-of-payments deficit has reached a record high, but officials say it should begin to show improvement in the October-December quarter.

The Commerce Department said Monday a U.S. international-payments balance sheet showed a massive $12.1-billion deficit by one yardstick in the July-September quarter, the largest quarterly red-ink figure in the nation's history.

The deficit was piled up because foreign speculators led a run on the dollar just before President Nixon moved on Aug. 15 to protect the U.S. currency.

The record deficit could have been worse had Nixon hesitated in refusing to pay out any more of the nation's gold for dollars and in imposing a 10-per-cent import surcharge, officials said.

The magnitude of the third-quarter deficit stunned some officials who thought that while it would be large, it couldn't get that big.

The $12.1-billion deficit was measured through the official reserve-transactions balance, which takes into account only dealings between the United States and foreign governments and the central bank.

When speculators were cashing in their dollar holdings in midsummer to buy foreign currencies in anticipation of making a profit through revaluation, the dollars wound up in foreign central banks.

The official reserve-transactions balance was $5.7 billion in the second quarter; thus it more than doubled in the third quarter.

Haze Cloaks Mars From Mariner 9

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 9's television cameras have had little success peering through the haze cloaking Mars. But scientists say other instruments have detected evidence of silicate on the planet and an area where the temperature rises suddenly.

The spacecraft, which rocketed into Martian orbit Saturday, sent back 32 pictures Monday, taken more than 850 miles above the surface.

Scientists thought they could see some surface features dimly through the haze in at least two pictures, tantalizing hints of revelations to come if the surface is finally unveiled to the satellite's television cameras.

The haze is believed to be dust lofted into the atmosphere by wind storms sweeping Mars. It has prevented Mariner's television cameras from photographing the surface since the probe went into orbit.

Scientists studying data sent back by an infra-red radiometer which measures surface temperatures said they spotted an area where the Martian surface was 12 degrees Fahrenheit warmer than its surroundings.

Guido Muncie, a California Institute of Technology scientist, suggested high terrain in the area, such as a mountain peak, might cause a hole in the haze allowing the sun to warm the area more than its surroundings.

Data from another infra-red instrument showed Martian areas scanned Sunday covered with tiny particles of a silicate-containing material. Silicates, composed of silicon and oxygen, are primary constituents of earth rocks.

Dr. Rudolph A. Hanel of the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md., said he couldn't be certain if the silicates were deposited on the surface or suspended in the atmosphere.

Lions Are TV Stars

CURT JOHNSTON

Members of Hope Lions Club were television stars Monday, November 15 as Southwestern Bell Science Demonstrator Curt Johnston presented his program, "Innovation in Three Acts."

Meeting at Town & Country, the group witnessed several communications innovations from scientists at Bell Telephone Laboratories, the Bell Telephone System's research branch.

While showing the audience themselves on closed circuit television, Johnston explained the Bell System's role in carrying network television programs on the nationwide communications system, "right along with long distance calls."

He told how Bell Labs innovations such as the tiny transistor and solar battery make space satellite communications possible and then demonstrated the process, using a model satellite.

Johnston also operated a miniature microwave system and a working lens made of gas. Microwave systems were developed by Bell Labs to beam communications signals across the skies.

The gas lens, one of Bell Labs' latest developments, will be used in future communications sent by laser, which Johnston demonstrated in the program.

"Bell Labs scientists are interested in the laser because they believe this tiny light beam may someday transmit millions of simultaneous phone calls and other communications signals," Johnston said.

The science demonstrator sent music over the laser beam to demonstrate the principles.

Johnston also asked members of the audience to join him in demonstrating experimental telephone services that will be available in the future.

Using phones connected to a miniature switching office, calls were automatically transferred from one phone to another, calls were completed by dialing only two digits and busy numbers were automatically redialed.

Johnston also described another innovation called wave guide. This device, which resembles a hollow pipe, may

Russia's Master Spy Rudolf Abel Reported Dead

MOSCOW (AP) — Rudolf Abel, the master spy who was the top Soviet agent in the United States, died Monday, informed sources reported today.

Abel, probably the most important Soviet spy caught in the United States, operated from 1948 until his arrest in 1957. He was sentenced to 30 years in prison and in 1962 was exchanged for American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

Abel was 68 and had been ill for six months with lung cancer, the sources said.

Abel went to the United States from Canada and set up as a photographer and artist in Brooklyn. His target was American military secrets, and he was exposed after the defection of an assistant, Reino Hayhanen.

Although he was a colonel in the KGB, the secret police, the Soviet government denied Abel was a Soviet citizen. But eight years later, in 1965, the head of the KGB paid official tribute in Pravda to the agent known as Rudolf Abel.

In 1966 the magazine Moloday Kommunist, or Young Communist, reported that Abel worked in Soviet intelligence for more than 30 years. "His courage, valor and boundless devotion have been highly appreciated," it said.

Parents File Suit in Zoning Law Question

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal Judge G. Thomas Eisele is scheduled to hold a hearing at 9:30 a.m. today on a request for a temporary injunction to allow three students to attend McClellan High School until the question of school guardianships is decided.

Guy Reeves, the attorney for the parents of three high school pupils placed under guardianship to avoid a school transfer, filed a new suit in U.S. District Court Monday questioning the action of the Little Rock School Board in the matter.

The new suit questions whether the board can take retroactive action. In October, the board ruled that the students must attend schools in zones where their parents live rather than being placed under guardianship. The school board's action was retroactive to May 1970.

Last Wednesday, Federal Judge J. Smith Henley ruled that he had no jurisdiction in the case because the district's desegregation plan was on appeal to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

Reeves said Monday night that the three pupils had not attended classes since Henley's decision Wednesday.

He is asking that the students be allowed to attend McClellan High School, where their guardians are, rather than forced to attend Mills High School.

More Warm Weather for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
High pressure continues to dominate the Arkansas weather picture meaning unseasonably warm temperatures through Wednesday.

The center of the warm high pressure area was over northern Alabama and central Tennessee this morning and was expected to move very little until at least Wednesday morning.

Some scattered light showers broke out this morning as far east as the western sections of Oklahoma and Kansas and could possibly spread into the western section of Arkansas by Wednesday afternoon.

Highs Monday ranged from 71 at Fayetteville to 80 at Texarkana. Highs today should be mostly in the 70s with similar readings forecast for Wednesday.

Lows tonight should be in the mid 40s to mid 50s.

No rainfall was reported in the state during the 24-hour period ended at 8 a.m. today.

Individual Tax Cut Try Has Failed

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats have failed in efforts to add a big 1971 tax cut for individuals to the $23.9-billion tax-reduction bill and to trim benefits for business.

The Senate turns to other issues today in an attempt to finish work Wednesday on the big bill, a key part of President Nixon's new economic policy.

It added $2.2 billion a year to the cost of the measure Monday by voting 56 to 27 to allow parents a tax credit of up to $325 a year on expenses of a college student. The credit will be subtracted from taxes due.

But this provision has been adopted twice by the Senate previously and both times killed in conference with the House. It seems likely to meet the same fate this time.

Democrats tried twice Monday to correct what they said was a major imbalance in the bill in favor of business.

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., lost, 44 to 38, an effort to raise the personal exemption for 1971 to $700, compared with $675 voted by the House and $650 in present law. This would have added $1 billion of tax relief to the bill.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., was defeated, 40 to 39, in an effort to give taxpayers $2.4 billion of additional cuts for 1971 with a $25 tax credit for single persons and $50 for couples.

Bayh's amendment also would have cut back the help to business in the accelerated-depreciation provision, reducing the tax savings by $7.8 billion over the next five years.

The votes appeared to indicate that the only additional general relief for individuals voted in the Senate floor debate would be the $800 personal exemption for 1972 and thereafter, adopted last Friday. The House voted for $750, the figure supported by the administration.

Jury Selection Continues in Murder Trial

DEWITT, Ark. (AP) — Jury selection in the first-degree murder trial of Teddy R. Kittler, 16, of DeWitt was scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. today in Circuit Court here.

So far one person has been selected to serve on the jury.

Kittler, along with two other DeWitt youths, is charged with the November 1970 slaying of Jimmy Wayne Wampler, 27, a Wynne rice farmer.

Originally Larry L. Mannis, 17, and Benny R. West, 16, were scheduled to go on trial Monday with Kittler. However, Pros. Atty. Sam Weems set the stage for separate trials for all three when he filed separate charges against them Monday.

Mannis and West were returned to the Arkansas County Jail, where they have been confined for more than a year.

A fourth youth, Joe Kagebien, 16, has been found guilty of first-degree murder in Wampler's death. His execution has been stayed pending an appeal.

Jury selection began Monday afternoon and about 60 of 130 prospective jurors were called.

Circuit Court Judge Joe Villines of Harrison, appointed as a special judge, refused to rule on a motion on pretrial publicity Monday until he had heard the testimony of more prospective jurors.

Don Smith, attorney for Mannis and Kittler, made the motion asking for a continuance because he said pretrial publicity had prejudiced the potential jury. He singled out a statement made by DeWitt Mayor Johnny Schallhorn, who was quoted in recent stories as saying that Mannis, West and Kittler had been in trouble before and that an example needed to be set to show youths they could not go out and violate laws and get by with it.

Resolutions Ready for League Study

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers and Lt. Gov. Bob Riley will address the Arkansas Municipal League here today.

The Resolutions Committee of the league will decide what resolutions will be presented to the convention's business session for possible action today.

However, the committee did decide Sunday to recommend a resolution urging Bumpers to call a special session of the legislature to change a 1971 law governing filing of independent candidates in municipal elections.

The league favors the old provisions requiring 10-20 signatures, instead of the 15 per cent of the qualified electors who voted in the city in the last gubernatorial election. In addition, the committee would like to restore the filing deadline to not less than 45 days before the general election in November, rather than in April as required by the 1971 law.

Other resolutions proposed, but not acted on include:

—A request for state aid to help build sewage treatment facilities and provide and operate landfills or incinerators to dispose of solid waste.

—A request for the General Assembly to grant municipal governments the right to levy a local sales tax or allocate to them a major percentage in any increase in the state sales tax.

—A request to the state not to establish hourly salary scales and working conditions for municipal employees, leaving this to the discretions of local government.

—A request to extend provisions of the federal Emergency Employment Act of 1971 to cities with less than 1,000 population. The act provided funds to cities and counties and the state to hire unemployed or underemployed persons with the federal government paying their salaries for two years.

—A request to the General Assembly to exempt cities from sales and use taxes on purchases.

Turner regained his composure, finished his address and left the room, still unaware of what the governor had done.

Speech "Cracks Up" Legislature

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard Turner found it impossible to continue a speech momentarily Monday when uproarious laughter filled the Statehouse legislative chamber.

Gov. Robert Ray caught Turner unaware by activating a small canned laughter device.

Members of the Iowa Executive Council, who were meeting to hear Turner's address, had seen the device earlier when Gov. Ray showed it to them while Turner was out of the room.

When the laughter subsided,

Panel Picked to Study Laws on Obscenity

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A three-judge panel has been named to decide the constitutionality of state and local laws on obscenity and indecent exposure.

Chief Judge M. C. Matthes of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis has appointed U.S. District Court Judges G. Thomas Eisele and J. Smith Henley to serve with him on the panel.

Matthes did not set a date for the panel to convene.

Several suits have been filed challenging the constitutionality of the state's law. Last week special judge Lower Hendricks of Little Rock acquitted a topless dancer on a charge of indecent exposure because he said the state's indecent exposure law was "ambiguous."

After receiving the money, Mrs. Phipps bought $50,000 in municipal bonds and subsequently advised the brokers of her intent to give $3,000 annually to her minor children.

Testimony at the trial indicated that Mrs. Phipps retained control over the bonds and could have, at any time, sold them and used the money in any manner she chose. The Su-

Thinks Judge Erred in Estate Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Monday that Chancellor Kay L. Matthews of Little Rock had erred when he said that John Milton Phipps had waived a right to the estate of Phipps' late wife.

The opinion said Arkansas law provided for a waiver of the spouse's curtesy right in a decedent's estate only when the decedent died as murder by the survivor.

The wife, Donna Wilson Murrel Phipps, died April 26, 1969, from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound at her Little Rock home.

She had married Phipps in 1968 after becoming the beneficiary of an insurance policy on her previous husband, Roger Murrel, who died in 1967. Funds from the policy amounted to $187,418.

After receiving the money, Mrs. Phipps bought $50,000 in municipal bonds and subsequently advised the brokers of her intent to give $3,000 annually to her minor children.

Testimony at the trial indicated that Mrs. Phipps retained control over the bonds and could have, at any time, sold them and used the money in any manner she chose. The Su-

Woman Dies at Age 105

GREENBRIER, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Alice B. Smith, 105, died Monday at the home of her daughter here.

She was born March 5, 1866 and had lived in Faulkner County for 100 years.

Her twin sister, Mrs. Emma Snow, lived to age 98.

Senators Split on Tax Measure
WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas senators split on a roll call vote Monday as the Senate defeated an amendment 44-38 that would have raised the personal income tax exemption to $700 this year.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright voted for the measure and Sen. John L. McClellan voted against.

preme Court said that in light of this testimony, Mrs. Phipps evidently had not actually given the bonds to the children.

MUCH ADO ABOUT A FLAG PATCH

Dear Sue and Helen:

Parents are really something else! We all got into this big fight over nothing. My sister ripped her jeans, and the tear was below the knee. All she wanted to do was put a stars-and-stripes patch over it—the kind you can buy in any store.

But my parents, especially Dad, got up tight about "desecrating the American flag." He said it was renouncing our country, and no daughter of HIS would do a communist, hippie thing like that!! He was in the Army, which makes him even more up tight.

Well, one thing led to another, and he smacked my sister and sent her crying to her room. So I yelled we had freedom of speech and he hollered it was shameful to even think of putting the flag

Many Antiques in Holt Estate to Be Auctioned

The auction of the Lee A. Holt estate in Washington, Arkansas is scheduled for Saturday, November 20. People all over Washington have been asking about this estate located only one block from the Old Tavern where Sam Houston planned the Texas Revolution.

There's a house full of antiques owned and used by the pioneer Holt families of Hempstead and Howard counties. There is everything from an ox yoke to a 5 piece parlor set.

Then there are collectors items: Atmores Cathedral Pickle Jar, Edison Victrola, Will Rogers Clock, old typewriter and dozens of other items.

The sale features the Sallie Kate (Harris) Holt library and original poetical works. This library contains dozens of pre-Civil War books. Mrs. Sallie Kate was the mother-in-law of Lee A. Holt; and she traced her lineage back to King David.

Coming, Going

Dr. and Mrs. John Scott Andrews, Little Rock, visited Mr. and Mrs. Andy Andrews this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jordan and Tena, Tyler, Tex., spent the weekend with Mrs. Bert Chamberlain and Mr. and Mrs. John Bill Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Velvin and son, Wake Village, Tex., spent Sunday with Mrs. Mack Parsons.

George A. Sundstrom, Phoenix, Ariz., visited last week with Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Davis. The Davises spent the weekend in Little Rock with Mrs. J. A. Davis and in North Little Rock with the John Tabor family.

Wednesday evening marks the opening of the Junior Auxiliary Christmas Bazaar. The annual event is one of the major fundraising projects which the Auxiliary undertakes to finance its various programs.

Projects benefitting from the proceeds include the Hempstead Child Development Center, School of Hope, Children's Colony, Welfare project, Girl Scout campership, Girls' State delegate, Art Awareness program and the Christmas boxes for needy children.

Christmas decorations and baked goods will supplement the variety of homemade gift items to provide an ideal selection for holiday shoppers.

The Bazaar will be held in the lobby of First National Bank on Wednesday, November 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. and on Thursday and Friday, November 18-19 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — NBC skipped its regular programming Monday night and gave viewers a refreshing change of pace.

The network came up with a dramatic show, a musical comedy and a star-studded vaudeville show—all of which provided a well-rounded evening of viewing.

First came "The Snow Goose," adapted from Paul Gallico's 30-year-old short novel. It was a warm, sentimental story about two lonely people brought together by their mutual affection for a wounded bird, which they nursed back to health.

The adroit acting of Richard Harris and Jenny Agutter combined with backgrounds which kept the hour from becoming too unbearably saccharine.

"Dames At Sea," which followed, was originally an off-Broadway musical comedy spoof of the extravagant depression-era musical movies that started with "Forty-Second Street."

The production may have lost a lot in transition from stage to TV studio, but there were some elaborate tongue-in-cheek production numbers.

Ann-Margret played the little country girl who walked off the bus from Utah onto a stage and became a star the same day. Ann Miller was the nasty star of the show and had one dandy dance number. Ann Meara, in a blonde wig, played the good-hearted girl friend—a role that usually carries the best comedy lines—but not in this show. Fred Gwynne, as the show's director, mugged a lot.

"Festival At Ford's," the third of the specials, came from the Washington theatre where President Lincoln was assassinated.

Bob Hope's monologue, directed to an audience of government officials and congressmen, was especially sharp, funny and bold.

The production also featured Carol Channing, Melba Moore, Raymond Burr, Jonathan Winters, Pat Boone and Charley Pride.

With all that talent, the hour sped by fast.

And, as Burr noted in a serious moment, "The real star of this show is this theatre."

This year we won't cut the lawns as often.

Next year we'll cut paleontology.

Thinks Cage Merger Is a Must

By BOB GREENE

Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association, who was still sitting on the bench when a long intermission was called Monday in a Senate professional basketball merger bill hearing, says winning is not paramount in having a successful franchise.

"The proper promotion, proper management and colorful attraction—and not necessarily a winning team—all are necessary ingredients in developing a successful franchise," Kennedy said.

Kennedy said Milwaukee and Atlanta, "with comparatively small capacities, are good examples of successful franchises." Both cities have NBA teams.

Although time ran out Monday before he could testify, Kennedy's statement was entered into the record of the Senate judiciary subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly. The panel's acting chairman was Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

Kennedy said in 1949, the old National Basketball League and the old Basketball Association of America merged. "It suddenly became a 17-team league but, unfortunately, many of the franchises were too sick financially to survive."

The then-new National Basketball Association "shrunk to but eight clubs by 1954. The weak franchises died away," Kennedy said.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said a merger between the NBA and the rival American Basketball Association should include a precondition that would keep weaker teams in business.

"My primary interest is the fans," Tunney said. "The people who want to see basketball in their home cities. I want the teams to survive."

An economist, Robert R. Nathan, testified that a merger might not save some franchises, but it would, he felt, be better than the present system. "What we have is a sick business," Nathan said. "The bidding war between the leagues... has done no one any good."

Kennedy said it "is the necessity to provide the fans with strongly competitive teams that has driven many clubs in both leagues to saddle themselves with contracts for untested rookies far exceeding" the teams' ability to pay.

Jack Dolph, ABA commissioner, said in a statement for the record "ABA clubs have, unfortunately, been driven with total abandon to use whatever method to pay 'whatever it takes' to get certain players."

"For example, one ABA club signed an untested rookie to a five-year, no-cut contract, valued at $900,000. In addition, the contract provided that the player receive a $50,000 bonus, three Cadillacs over a five-year period and a $2,000 per-year housing allowance."

"The player's mother was also hired to work in the club's public relations department for an annual salary of $10,000."

Behind Tight End

Milt Morin of the Cleveland Browns gives his wife Ellen credit for part of his success. "Ellen has a better overall view of things than I do. She sometimes sees things I don't because I'm too wrapped up in football while she looks at things from the outside. And she refuses to be a crying towel. She won't let me rationalize or make excuses."

Leaders Keep Pace in Grid Poll, Hogs 17th

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Mighty Nebraska, seeking its second consecutive national championship but first headed for a Thanksgiving Day showdown with runner-up Oklahoma, remained well out in front in this week's Associated Press college football rankings and piled up the highest point total of the season.

The Cornhuskers, 44-17 winners over Kansas State last Saturday, received 40 first-place votes and a season high 1,066 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Oklahoma, which crushed Kansas 56-10, polled eight first-place votes and 986 points. Last week, Nebraska held a 1,060-968 lead.

Michigan's Rose Bowl-bound Big Ten champs remained third with four votes for the top spot and 788 points but fourth-place Alabama narrowed the gap appreciably after the Wolverines needed a last-minute field goal to turn back Purdue 20-17.

Alabama, a 31-3 winner over Miami of Florida, received one first-place vote and 775 points. Last week, Michigan held a comfortable 876-738 margin.

The Nos. 5 and 6 teams, which swapped places a week ago, did it again, with Auburn nosing in front of Penn State following an impressive 35-20 conquest of nationally ranked Georgia. Penn State broke away from North Carolina State with four touchdowns in the final period en route to a 35-3 triumph. Auburn and Penn State each received one of the remaining two first-place ballots, with the Tigers holding a 686-635 point lead.

Once-beaten Notre Dame inched from eighth to seventh with a 21-7 defeat of Tulane while previously unbeaten Georgia slipped from seventh to eighth after losing to Auburn. Arizona State remained ninth with a 52-19 rout of Wyoming and Colorado climbed from 12th to 10th by whipping Oklahoma State 40-6. The Buffs replaced Stanford, which bowed to San Jose State 13-12 and fell to 18th.

Idle Tennessee held onto 11th place, followed by Texas, Toledo, Louisiana State, Southern California, Houston, Arkansas, Stanford, Michigan State and Mississippi.

Last week, it was Tennessee, Colorado, Texas, Toledo, USC, Ohio State, Arkansas, Houston, Washington and LSU.

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Tech on defense and Arkansas on offense are fashioning the strongest team statistics in the Southwest Conference football chase.

The two teams collided Saturday in Fayetteville in a classic confrontation of defense versus offense.

Arkansas' 4,553 yards in total offense is the third best 10-game total in SWC history, being bettered only by Texas' national title teams of 1969 and 1970.

The Razorbacks need only 12 yards in the Tech game to break the school total offense record of 4,564 yards established last year in an 11-game season.

Texas Tech has allowed only 245.6 yards per contest as the Red Raiders limited Baylor to a net of five passing yards last Saturday. Only twice since the return to two-platoon football in 1964 have SWC defenses fashioned averages of better than 240 yards per contest.

Arkansas has averaged 455.3 yards per game total offense and 230 yards per game through the air.

Tech has allowed only an average of 63.4 yards per game on defense. Arkansas leads in rushing defense with an average of 130.4 yards per contest.

The rushing championship is up for grabs with Texas' Jim Bertelsen gaining four more yards than runnerup Alvin Maxson of Southern Methodist to lead by 88.9 yards per game to HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The front office of the Houston Oilers stepped in Monday and sacked one of the assistant coaches hired by their rookie head coach, Ed Hughes.

General Manager John Breen fired offensive line coach Ernie Zwahlen and also announced that Oiler scout King Hill, a journeyman pro quarterback for 12 years, would start coaching the Oiler quarterbacks.

Breen took the action after consulting with Bud Adams, the owner of the National Football League team, who was in San Francisco. Hughes will work with the offensive line for the remainder of the season, Breen said.

Hughes had little to say about the changes.

"When you get a bombshell sort of dropped on you all of a sudden, you need time to think," he said.

Zwahlen was offensive line coach with the San Francisco 49ers and came to the Oilers this year when they hired Hughes from the same team.

The Oilers, 1-7-1 this year, were 10th in total offense in the American Conference going into last week's game in Oakland. They were 13th in rushing and third in passing.

Chargers Kick Way to Victory

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — When Dennis Pardee left the field among a happy mob of San Diego Charger teammates, he knew he'd succeeded. Otherwise he'd have walked alone.

"I kept my head down and just followed through so I didn't know it was good until I got swamped," Pardee said Monday night. "Then I figured it must have gone through."

The 45-yard, last-second field goal lifted the Chargers over the St. Louis Cardinals 20-17 in their nationally televised National Football League meeting in San Diego Stadium.

The kick that made the Chargers 4-5 in the American Conference West and the Cardinals 3-6 in the National Conference East was Pardee's longest of the season. He learned that later.

Pardee's boot followed a game-tying St. Louis touchdown with 17 seconds left when Ed Edwards plunged for a yard. The Cardinals then attempted an onside kick, but they didn't recover and San Diego, with John Hadl throwing a 16-yard pass to Gary Garrison, got field goal position and stopped the clock with a last time out.

Also, in the running for the rushing title are Rice's Stale Vincent 82.4 yards per game, Arkansas' Dickey Morton 78.5, and TCU's Bobby Davis 70.3.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson of the Razorbacks leads in passing with an average of 15.9 completions per contest.

Texas' Donnie Wigginton leads the scoring parade with an average of eight points per contest.

Arkansas' Mike Reppond appears almost certain to become the second player in SWC history to total more than 1,000 yards on pass receptions. The Razorback junior has 986 yards on 56 catches.

Annual Powder Puff Game Set Saturday

Saturday night, November 20, at 7:30 p.m., Hammons Stadium will be the battleground of the Junior and Senior girls in the traditional Powder Puff Football Game.

The 8th annual game, sponsored by the Student Council, is expected to draw its largest crowd this year, mainly because of the intense rivalry centered around the Juniors and the Seniors.

While the girls are fighting it out on the field, the boys will be on the sidelines as beauties, cheerleaders, and majorettes. They will also have to present a special show at halftime.

The Senior Girls chose Tommy Frazier as class beauty, while Danny Boyette, Kenneth Ellis, Tommy Miller, and Ray Whellington will serve as cheerleaders. Senior majorettes are Steve Harris, Bubba Powers, David Sanders, and Nicky Spellman.

Juniors elected Mike Huckabee as their beauty with Creig Lance, Buddy Ingram, Danny Joyce, and Robie Boyd acting as cheerleaders. The Junior's list of majorettes include Randy Bobo, Wade Harris, Ricky Brown, and Mike Waters.

Coaches for each team are members of the Bobcat Football Team and are as follows: Seniors-Rusty Quillen, Lynn Norton, and Ralph Martin; Juniors-Mike Downs, Melvin Weston and Ricky Hart.

Co-chairmen for the project, Paul Young and Debbie Impson have both worked hard for several weeks to make Powder Puff a success.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students, with proceeds going to a Student Council sponsored service

Mathis to Step Back in Ring to Fight Ali

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Doctors have instruments to measure Buster Mathis' pulse, but they can't determine what makes him tick.

Mathis' pulse rate was 88 beats per minute at a pre-fight physical last week for his 12-round bout in the Astrodome Wednesday night against Muhammad Ali.

Everyone will have to wait until the fight starts to judge if Mathis, the 265-pound mountain has solved the psychological problems that made him quit the ring 2½ years ago.

"I went back 15 yards and I punched," Mathis says of his long layoff after a dismal loss to Jerry Quarry in 1968. "I had some mental problems which I don't want to go into detail about. But that's all behind me now. I'm ready to fight."

Mathis says the rest allowed him time to "get myself together" and to decide what he wanted to do. He says part of the reason he wants to fight now is he's more mature, he's got a wife and child and he's hungry.

Mathis' trainer Joe Fariello agrees. Asked when he thought Buster became motivated to start fighting again, Fariello quipped, "I think it was when they were going to turn off his lights."

The popular theory about Mathis is that all he needs is a little confidence.

"He's the greatest frontrunner in the world," said Angelo Dundee, Muhammad Ali's trainer. "We'll have to stay right on him from the start."

Buster oozes confidence in his interviews. "Let's make one thing clear," he said. "I'm going to win. I'm going to lick him."

"I'd be a fool to pass up such a chance as this. Just think, if I beat him, I can eat every day for the rest of my life. That's not bad for a guy who quit school in the eighth grade."

Trojan Talent

The University of Southern California has more alumni on active rosters of National Football League teams than any other school. At the start of the 1971 season, there were 28 former Trojans carrying NFL spears, while second place Notre Dame alumni totaled 26. Ohio State with 25, Grambling with 21, Michigan with 19, Michigan State with 17, Minnesota with 16 and Houston, Texas, Penn State and Southern U. each with 15 rounded out the top 10.

project. Although both teams are promising a victory, Saturday night fans will find out which class is the best.

Student Council advisers are Mrs. W.A. Williams, Mrs. Thomas Jordan, Tim Strawn, and Mrs. B.B. McPherson.

Series Hero Didn't Get Full Share

NEW YORK (AP) — Baby-faced Bruce Kison, the hero of the first night game in World Series history, was given only a three-quarter share by the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced today.

The 21-year-old right-hander, who was called up by the Pirates in mid-season and compiled a 6-5 record before his World Series heroics, was voted $13,623.44 by his teammates. A full share was worth $18,164.58. The vote was taken before the Series.

Kison relieved starter Luke Walker in the first inning of the fourth World Series game against Baltimore on Oct. 13 and blanked the slugging Orioles on one hit over 6 1-3 innings. He left in the seventh inning for pinch hitter Milt May, who delivered the game-winning hit in a 4-3 Pittsburgh triumph.

Over-all, the Pirates voted 31 full shares from their pot of $627,237.11 of the 1971 World Series and championship series receipts. They went to 23 players, Manager Danny Murtaugh, five coaches, trainer Tony Bartome and clubhouse manager John Hallahan.

They also voted several smaller shares, but did not give any money to their ground crew. The ground crew had received a full share to split last year when the Pirates won the National League's East Division title.

Meanwhile, the Orioles also voted 31 full shares of $13,906.45 from their total earnings of $470,427.84. They gave a one-tenth share to Jay Mazzone, their crippled batboy whose hands were burned off in a childhood accident. The 16-year-old Mazzone retired after the 1971 season. He had held the batboy job for four years.

Another interesting note in the team breakdown of awards, as released by Kuhn, was that the Boston Red Sox gave a full share of $294.31 to the Jimmy Fund for cancer research. The Red Sox finished third in the American League East.

Rangers Trade With Blues for Young Center

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers wanted to pick Gene Carr in last year's junior amateur draft, but St. Louis made the 20-year-old center its No. 1 pick.

But the Rangers didn't give up. Monday they dealt three promising youngsters plus a player to be named later to the Blues in exchange for Carr, veteran Wayne Connelly and left wing Jim Lorentz.

Going to St. Louis were left wing Jack Egers, who scored seven goals in 60 games as a rookie for the Rangers last year; Andre Dupont, a bruising, 22-year-old defenseman in his second year of pro hockey; and Mike Murphy, the Central Hockey League's rookie of the year with 24 goals and 71 points at Omaha last season.

Hanging Out the College Grid Wash

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

Is Notre Dame going to a bowl this season? Probably, but it's a good thing the Fighting Irish don't have to worry about facing Hayward State.

Hayward who? Now hear this: Notre Dame lost to Southern Cal by 14, Southern Cal lost to Stanford by 15, Stanford lost to San Jose State by one, San Jose lost to Fresno State by seven and Fresno lost to Hayward State by four.

Put them all together and it makes Hayward State a 41-point favorite over Notre Dame.

Eleven seniors who excelled in the classroom as well as on the field have been named scholar-leader-athletes for 1971 by the National Football Foundation.

They are Johnny Musso, Alabama; Jack Mildren, Oklahoma; Tom Gatewood, Notre Dame; Dave Joyner, Penn State; Tom Nash, Georgia; Mike McCoy, Kansas; Dennis Ferguson, Utah State; Bill Thomson, Indiana; Darryl Haas, Air Force; Bill Brafford, North Carolina, and John Sefcik, Columbia.

All will be guests of the NFF at the foundation's 14th annual Hall of Fame dinner in New York Dec. 7.

Recruiting takes the strangest turns. Mike Cooper is only the third-string quarterback at Army, but he made a fine play Saturday, reaching up for a high snap from center and quickly spotting the ball for the field goal that beat Pitt 17-14.

How did Army get Cooper? His high school English teacher is the wife of Coach Tom Cahill's first sergeant in 1945.

It was an enjoyable win for Cahill—is there any such thing as a good loss or a bad win?—but tempered somewhat by the announcement over the public address system that Army's next home game would be against Nebraska ... next Sept. 23.

Tragedy was attendant at the Syracuse-Navy game. The father of Syracuse tackle Ray Jarosz suffered a heart attack in the stands a few minutes before the final gun and died in the Naval Academy hospital a short time later.

Syracuse and Pitt were partners recently in a 50-yard extra point attempt. Erle Baugher converted for Syracuse but the Orangemen were penalized 15 yards for holding. Again Baugher made good and again Syracuse was socked 15 yards for holding. Fifty yards proved a little too far.

Know who holds the Alabama career record for interceptions? Harry Gilmer, that's who, a fellow who was known to be on the firing end once in a while, as well.

Don Ekstrand, Arizona State's 27-year-old placekicker, has been in and out of the whirlpool all season with an assortment of leg injuries. His latest injury, though, is a broken finger on his right hand. It doesn't keep him from kicking ... but it makes it difficult for him to tie the laces on his kicking shoe.

In his first four games, Arizona State's Ben Malone surpassed his brother Art's first full season. Art, now a starter for the Atlanta Falcons, gained 48 yards as a part-timer in 1967. After four games, Ben showed 599 yards rushing.

Utah State has its postseason games all lined up and you might call it the Rice Bowl.

The Aggies leave for Japan Dec. 15. On Dec. 19, they'll play the university all-stars from the Tokyo area. On Dec. 26 the opposition is a group of university all-stars from Osaka. It's back to Utah Dec. 27.

Jim Webster, North Carolina linebacker, expects to graduate in June. Another cap-and-gown will be Mrs. Webster. Not his wife ... his mother. She's in graduate school getting a master's degree.

Teams for Gator, Orange Bowls Still Uncertain

MIAMI (AP) — "All major bowl contracts will be settled and signed before Oklahoma and Nebraska step on the field Thanksgiving Day," the Orange Bowl's Earnie Seiler predicted Monday.

"All the dealing will come this weekend. Nobody will wait and there will be gambling involved. There's a risk anytime you're locked to a team that still has games to play."

Seiler is the executive vice president of the Orange Bowl Committee. He said he could not comment on strong rumors that the event would select one team apiece from the Nebraska-Oklahoma and Alabama-Auburn games upcoming next week.

"We met all morning, most of the afternoon and will go on into the night," he said.

George Olsen, Seiler's counterpart with the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., said he has "never seen such an uncertain situation so late in the year. Usually we have inside information on what direction all the bowls are taking."

The Gator Bowl game will be played Friday, Dec. 31 with the Orange Bowl event coming Saturday night, Jan. 1.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCA) prohibits official contacts by post-season games before Saturday at 6 p.m., EST.

victory a few weeks ago after six losses was "the team's rallying around defensive tackle Pat Cosgrove," according to Coach Homer Smith. Cosgrove had a tendon in the ring finger of his right hand severed during the previous game and was given one more week to play before the tendon would atrophy beyond repair.

Benton Teacher Is Also Golf Club Craftsman

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Golf pros say that in some cases a small adjustment in an individual's set of clubs can significantly improve his game, and Rex Carson often figures in that modification.

Carson, 34, regularly receives by mail clubs sent in by many club pros in Arkansas and other states for their club members and works the adjustments into the clubs.

The operation is carried out in a workshop Carson has built in the garage of his Benton home, but he hopes to have a special shop situated on his property beside his house before the year is out.

What started as a hobby for Carson is turning into a sizable business.

He regularly teaches world history at Benton High School and has taught typing there in the past. His interest in golf, however, became at the age of 11 when he lived in Rogers.

"I just started working on my own, then I did a little work for friends, and this just developed into a business," he said.

A year ago, after passing tests, he was certified by the Ben Hogan Co. and signed a contract with the firm. He's one of about 15 people listed in the Hogan national catalog as golf club craftsmen.

Since golfers have differences in height, weight, strength, hand-size and other physical characteristics, no single set of clubs is suitable for everyone, Carson said.

"If a golfer has a pro, I recommend that he let the pro help buy the clubs in a pro shop," Carson said. "A pro can help the guy get the clubs best-suited for him. That's what a pro is trained to do."

For those who don't consult closely with a pro, and for those cases where the pro recommends adjustments in clubs the golfer already possesses, Carson's alterations may prove beneficial.

The size of the club's grip may determine how well the golfer can hold the club. "If someone's hands are large, usually increasing the size of the grip by a 32nd of an inch or a 16th of an inch will do the job," Carson said.

The two basic varieties of grips are leather and rubber, with the latter in greater demand, Carson said. "It's a little cheaper and also it's easier to work with," he said.

Club shafts come in six basic categories of flex. If one isn't suitable for a particular golfer, another will do.

The length of a shaft can affect a golfer's stance and follow-through in hitting the ball and shafts can be shortened or lengthened, and not always with a replacement of the shaft necessary.

Carson also has been called on to make other adjustments, including altering the weight of clubs or the shape and size of the club head.

Among the clubs he's handled are those of R. H. Sikes, who had shafts replaced on one set shortly before last year's Pensacola Open.

Carson embarked recently on a club designing effort and developed an unusual-looking putter with a very broad-faced and high blade.

"I wanted a big face that would extend over the top of the golf ball," he said. "Most putters don't go that high and I think they tend to hit a little under the ball, causing it to jump. A big face would give more roll and not so much jump."

He sent the model off to the Hogan company and later got it back without comment. "I was hoping they'd be interested in it," Carson said. "I don't know whether they liked the idea of it or not."

The club now is in the hands of Pete Fleming, the Hot Springs pro, who, besides winning the national seniors tournament, also employs Carson's club modifying skills.

SPEEDWAY CHANGES
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — A $6 million two-mile super speedway formerly known as Texas International Speedway will reopen here Sunday, Dec. 5.

Bill France, president of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, said the financially troubled facility has been purchased by Daniel W. Holloway of Farmington, Mich. It will be operated by Holloway and Robert M. Andrews of Lansing, Mich.

George Blanda—Alive and Kicking

GOOD OLD No. 16, George Blanda, is still giving the lie to the theory that sports is for young men only. Now 44, Blanda has been a professional football player since 1949, always as a quarterback and place kicker. He began with the Chicago Bears, at left in a 1957 photo, and stayed with them until 1958. Then he joined the Houston Oilers, below left in 1962 action, when the American Football League came into existence in 1960 and stayed with them until 1967, when he took over the kicking and back-up quarterback jobs with Oakland. He is still there, coming off the bench to pull the Raiders out of trouble and adding to his career point total, which is the highest in the history of pro football.

First-Day Total as Stock Sale $3.3 Million

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Some 227 horses have been sold for $3.3 million at the first day of the Keeneland fall sale of breeding stock.

The total for Monday's sessions does not include the one-season breeding rights to 13 stallions sold by Gainesway Farm for $257,700. The breeding rights, which carried no guarantee to any of the buyers of a live foal, brought prices from $8,500 to $41,000, the latter one for mating to the famed Buckpasser.

The total price for thoroughbred stock was $760,000 higher than last year's first-day total.

Elliott Burch, the trainer for Rokaby Stable, paid $160,000 for a 6-year-old mare in foal to Round Table.

Burch bought the daughter of Ambiorix-Zonah from the consignment of Edward B. Benjamin, who sold 10 mares and five weanlings for $480,000.

Dave Parrish Jr., a buying agent from Paris, Ky., paid $112,000 as the second-highest price of Monday night's session for a 5-year-old mare, Jan Jessie, in foal to Najinsky II. The mare was sold by Dr. Jock Jockey and Paul Meredith.

Johnson Out for '71 Season Due to Knee Injury

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Johnson, who gained 1,027 yards last season to become the first New York Giant player to crack the 1,000-yard barrier, will be lost to the club for the remainder of the 1971 season due to torn cartilage in his left knee.

Johnson hurt his knee in New York's game against San Diego Nov. 7. It was first thought to be a minor leg injury, but when the knee remained stiff during the past week, further examination by team physician Dr. Anthony Pisani revealed the torn cartilage.

Johnson will be operated on today or tomorrow to repair the damage.

The 24-year-old running back missed six games earlier this season due to a thigh injury. He carried only 32 times this season, gaining 156 yards.

Another New York running back, rookie Charlie Evans, will undergo examination for a possible fractured left leg suffered in Sunday's game against Atlanta.

NHL Expansion Has Lessened Playing Quality

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Item: The Boston Bruins scored 11 goals against the Los Angeles Kings, a 1967 National Hockey League expansion team, Sunday night.

Item: The New York Rangers scored six goals and outshot the Vancouver Canucks, a 1970 NHL expansion team, 52-16 Sunday night.

Item: The NHL is adding two more expansion teams next season and has plans for two more in 1974.

Question: What's going on here?

Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL, has said that the quality of play since the league started expanding has been diluted. And after Sunday night, he was getting no argument—certainly not from the Vancouver people.

"They all talk about parity," chuckled Babe Pratt, a former NHL defenseman who is now an assistant vice president with the Canucks.

"Well, I'll tell you something," Pratt continued. "Parity is a joke. You'll never see parity in sports."

Pratt and Canucks' Coach Hal Laycoe were still feeling the sting of the Ranger assault. "That wasn't hockey last night," noted Laycoe, "but you know, I think the fans enjoyed it. They wanted more."

"It reminded me," said Pratt, "of the New Westminster Salmonbellies, the greatest lacrosse team of all time. They'd be winning '61 and their fans would want more, more, more."

"They all say, 'look, we were in the cellar for 10 years, be patient,'" said Laycoe. "But do you think the people who paid $6 million for the franchise and the 15,600 fans in Vancouver have to be patient. It wasn't their fault that those older teams were in the basement."

Laycoe thinks part of the parity answer might be to make free agents out of all professional hockey players except those already in the National League. That would make top notch minor leaguers now owned by powerhouse NHL teams like New York and Boston, available to the have-nots.

The Japanese rapped out 14 hits including a home run. Starter Mitsuo Inaba and reliever Hisatoshi Ito held the American League champions to four scattered hits.

The setback was Baltimore's second in 17 games. The Orioles' record in Japan is 11 victories, two defeats and four ties.

Memphis State Back Player of the Week

DALLAS (AP) — Sophomore defensive back David Johnson of Memphis State is the Missouri Valley Conference defensive player of the week.

Johnson, a substitute most of the year, was credited with five tackles from his deep back position and forced two North Texas State fumbles in a 47-8 victory. He added one pass interception and returned in for eight yards.

"We weren't on defense too much of the time during the game," said Memphis State coach Billy Murphy, "but when we were, David was making the big plays. He plays with the spirit that is the character of this team and we are counting on him heavily for the next two years."

Other Valley players nominated for defensive player-of-the-week honors were linebacker Lou Taber of Wichita State, linebacker Tom Martin of Louisville, cornerback J.E. Williams of Drake and linebacker Pedro Williams of Tulsa.

Manager of Celtics Sees Red Again

BOSTON (AP) — Red Auerbach, president and general manager of the Boston Celtics, is seeing red again, the same as in his coaching days when he became the National Basketball Association's most fined personality.

Auerbach, who used to take out his anger on officials until he moved into the front office, still was fuming Monday over a fight-filled 128-119 loss to the Suns in Phoenix last Friday night.

He was disturbed over a fight between Jo Jo White, the Celtics' leading scorer, and Phoenix reserve John Wetzel. Both players were ejected, with White leaving after being awarded two free throws.

"What would happen in the NBA if second-line players began punching around Kareem Jabbar, Oscar Robertson or Jerry West?" Auerbach asked. "The guys would retaliate and both players would be thrown out."

"Make your sub pick a fight with the other team's star and you're way ahead of the game when both players get thrown out. I thought they put a stop to this long ago."

"I remember years ago when Paul Seymour (of Syracuse) used to pick fights with Bob Cousy. I went to Maurice Podoloff, who was president of the league then, and warned him that if this tactic was allowed I'd put Bob Brannum on Dolph Schayes, for instance."

"Schayes had a lot of guts and would fight back, and both guys would get thrown out. The practice stopped."

Jersey Cadets

New Jersey has contributed more players to the West Point football team than any other state with 13. The team roster also includes seven players from Pennsylvania, the second best represented state.

Opening lead—♦ A

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There are all sorts of coups. The encyclopedia of bridge defines a simple coup as a maneuver by declarer to shorten his own trump holding to finesse in a situation where he can't lead trumps.

West helped South develop a coup with today's hand. His bid of two no-trump was the "unusual no-trump" to show both minor suits so South knew that West would be short in both hearts and spades.

West opened the ace of diamonds. South ruffed to get rid of one trump. Then he led a trump to dummy's king, discarded a spade on the king of diamonds, and ruffed another diamond to get himself one shorter than East.

Next came three rounds of spades. When East followed to the third spade South was home, as he could discard a club. He could lead either a diamond or spade from dummy and irrespective of what East did South could ruff or overruff and lead a club. Eventually he would make his last two trumps and his contract.

No guarantee went with this line of play since it was possible that West would hold two hearts and one spade and ruin all South's plans by ruffing the second spade, but it did represent good percentage play and did bring home the bacon.

What do you do now?

A—We have a very slight preference for a two-spade bid, but no criticism for a pass.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one spade to your double your partner has jumped to two spades. East passes. What do you do?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The full harvest moon ushers in a period of several successive days when the moon rises after sunset. The World Almanac notes that this phenomenon gives farmers in north temperate latitudes extra hours of light to harvest their crops before the frost comes. The 1971 harvest moon fell on October 4.

Suicide Thoughts Not Unique

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Please help me. I don't understand what's wrong. I tried to kill myself today with an overdose of pills, but I couldn't. I don't understand why I was put on earth. Everyone was put here for some reason, but I don't have one. I'm 18, still shy, I dislike people, and, at the present, I'm very ashamed of myself for gaining back 20 pounds in one month. I eat until I get physically sick. I don't know why, but it's driving me crazy. I hate myself because of it.

I hate to hate myself, but when I lost that 20 pounds I was never so proud of myself in my entire life. There was pride to live on. Now there's no pride and I want to die so badly.

The main reason that I can't go through with my suicide attempts is because I don't want to hurt anyone (especially my family). I've tried to explain my problems to my mother but she just laughs and says that I don't have any problems.

I hate myself and I don't want to live, but I'm scared to die. Please help me. I'm so miserable. Thank you for being there. It gives a person someone to talk to.

Dear Reader—I hope you are feeling better now. The best thing I could think of to help you was to have the New York Suicide Prevention Center informed of your problem and hope they could arrange for someone near your home to get in touch with you.

Many young people do have emotional problems. Health authorities at colleges and universities will bear this out. It is a difficult time, establishing life values and goals. You are not unique in having difficulty.

Almost everyone has had temporary thoughts of suicide. If it is anything more than a temporary thought such a person should talk over the problem with his doctor. Sometimes it will be necessary to see a psychiatrist to discuss one's problem, to resolve the inner conflicts that have led to so much unhappiness.

For people who are fortunate enough to live in a locality where a suicide prevention center is active help can be gotten in periods of severe stress by calling the center. If you have one, it will be listed in your telephone directory. These centers have saved a lot of lives and helped many people through some rough spots.

Overeating to the degree you describe is often part of the picture of emotional distress.

No one should ignore another person's "cry for help" when he talks about his death wish or suicide. It is time to listen and to try to get help.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

PERSONAL FINANCE

By CARLTON SMITH

Snerdly took his family to see the new film at the Bijou, because all the critics seemed to agree it was an experience you just shouldn't miss. They came out of the theater wishing they'd stayed home and played cribbage, and saved their money.

It made them feel pretty depressed. Why should they think the film was such a drag when all those critics had said it was so great? Maybe there was something wrong with their taste? They weren't cultured enough?

If there is any moviegoer in the audience who has not had this experience, please raise your hand. You will receive two complimentary tickets to the next annual meeting and dinner dance of the Guild of Motion Picture Advertising Copywriters, at which there will be a special seminar on "The Mangling of Context in Critical Reviews." Some knowledge of mangling is a must.

You see, what the Snerdlys thought the critics had said about the movie was not quite what the critics had really said. The Snerdlys hadn't read the actual reviews—only the ads for the film, which quoted from the reviews.

When a Guild copywriter applies his highly specialized skill of context-mangling to the reviews of a film he is careful to quote the critic's

Cotton Bowl Sets Sights on Five SWC Teams

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl, not operating from a position of strength because of a lackluster year in the Southwest Conference, set its sights today on Alabama, Penn State, Nebraska, Auburn and Georgia as the guest team for the annual New Year's Day event.

The Cotton Bowl is expected to sign a guest team Saturday to sign a guest team Saturday. However, the Longhorns have suffered losses to Oklahoma and Arkansas, damaging their national ranking.

Notre Dame, which has played Texas in the Cotton Bowl the last two years, is an outside possibility.

The Hope B & PW CLUB Woman of the Year, Velora Bright, was presented a plaque denoting her honor by the club president, Dee McMurrough, on Thursday, November 11, at a dinner meeting in the Diamond. Paper turkeys, pilgrims, colored leaves and berries gave a Thanksgiving aspect to the tables where dinner was served to 34. They included four guests, Mickey Becherer, Doris Williams, Lonnie Hargis, and Jewell McCain.

Chairman Mary Andrews explained that the club had planted the seeds for club growth in June when the new officers were installed, and it is now time for cultivation. Alice Walters, Bonnie Beckworth and Hazel Pritchard expanded this thought and cited the value of the "hearty perennials."

Hurricane Heading Toward Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Hundreds of Cubans fled their homes as Tropical Storm Laura dumped torrential rains on the westernmost parts of the Communist island today. Gale warnings were hoisted in the lower Florida Keys.

Reports from Cuba during the night indicated that Laura's peak winds had dropped from 70 miles an hour to 60 m.p.h. and its forward speed had slowed.

The National Hurricane Center predicted heavy rains would pound western Cuba again today and probably spread into the Florida Keys tonight or Wednesday.

Strictest precautionary measures were put into force in coastal areas of the westernmost sixth of Cuba as the Atlantic season's 12th tropical storm battered rich tobacco fields, Havana Radio reported. Four inches of rain fell on the Isle of Pines in six hours prior to midnight Monday.

Small craft were warned to stay in port around the extreme southern tip of the Florida peninsula today and around the entire southern portion of the state tonight.

There Are Many Things You Can Do Without and Here Are a Few

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without: A hatchback girl who looks grumpy when you leave only two-bits.

Mothers and daughters who dress alike after Mama is 50 and daughter is over 25.

Rain or snow on weekends during the football season. Hostesses who put so much garlic in their food that you're afraid to open your mouth for three days afterwards.

People who use artificial flowers to decorate their home but never dust them.

The tributeless anonymity of most modern day gravestones. Just because a guy didn't do much when alive is no reason why his survivors can't think up something nice to say about him after he has gone.

Anybody who cloaks his laziness or his fear of trying anything new by saying he is allergic to it.

Anybody who tries to achieve a spurious fame by carving, painting or scratching his name or initials on public buildings, national monuments-or wash-room walls for that matter, except in his own home.

Anybody in the office who noisily munches peanut brittle when you're on a diet.

Women who can tell you how to get out of Vietnam but can't sew on a button for a fellow.

The feel of a withered avocado.

The sound of an accordion being played at a party by a guy who took a correspondence school course in music during his youth.

The look on the face of a teen-age son while being told that if he wants to have the family car that night he'll have to dig up the dough to put some gas in the tank.

The frustration of finding no beer in the refrigerator halfway through the midnight movie on television with 24 more commercials to sit through.

Trying to answer a letter from the Internal Revenue Service without showing either rage or servility.

Trying to appear pleased when your daughter calls to invite you to baby sit your grandchildren overnight—"that is, if you don't mind sleeping in the basement with our dog."

A stuck zipper in an unmanned night club men's room with the girl of your dreams impatiently waiting at a table for your return.

Rock music groups with such names as "Keokuk Tomtoms," "Graceless Neanderthals," or "The Beerpail Thumpers."

Old ladies who pinch ripe tomatoes in the supermarket and middle-age men who do the same thing in the office.

From these and other afflictions and perils, deliver us. Amen.

Bank Makes $10,000 Mistake
MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Roxie Dorriety said the bank employee wouldn't believe her. "He said they didn't make mistakes that big," Mrs. Dorriety, a cocktail waitress, said she had deposited $104.50 Monday at a branch of the American National Bank in Spring Hill.

Later, she glanced at the deposit slip and thought it was $10,000 too much. But she looked closer and saw she had been credited in the amount of $10,000,104.50.

Israel Won't Get Planes at Present

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has ended an urgent review of the Mideast arms situation with a decision that Israel should not get new shipments of American Phantom warplanes for the time being.

According to the State Department, the balance of arms in the Mideast has not slipped against the Israelis because the Soviet Union has shown restraint in its weapons deliveries to Egypt.

"Our judgment is that the Soviets have acted with restraint in delivering arms to Egypt in the last several months," State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray said Monday.

Bray was responding to questions concerning a magazine interview by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in which he said Russian arms shipments to the Mideast had slowed down.

Bray said no significant shift in the Mideast arms balance has occurred and there is no need to meet the Israeli request for Phantom fighter-bombers.

Rogers had said earlier this autumn the United States was urgently studying the arms situation in light of a Soviet communique written after Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's visit to Moscow.

The communique indicated the Soviets would push hard to rearm the Egyptians with modern planes and ground weapons, including supersonic MIG 23s.

However, according to Bray, the Russians' arms deliveries have not picked up in recent months and the weapons sent have been of a relatively minor nature.

SMU Wins Fourth Cross-Country Team Title

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist captured its fourth consecutive Southwest Conference cross-country team title Monday with all five mustang harriers finishing in the top 10.

Baylor's Pete Morales won the individual title with a time of 18:45 for the four-mile event. Rice's Paul Geis with an 18:52 and Texas' Rick Yarbrough in 19:01 were second and third, respectively.

SMU scored 30 points followed by Texas' 55, Rice's 70, Baylor's 100, Arkansas' 113, and Texas Tech's 148.

Painting by Inmate Stolen
TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Leo Darrell Chandler has learned there are plenty of crooks outside the walls of the state penitentiary.

Chandler, serving a 50-year term for armed robbery, had hoped his painting, "Life Princess," would bring $10 Monday at an inmates art show at the University of Tulsa.

But somebody stole it.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fine Print

"The large print giveth, and the small print taketh away." That old joke about insurance policies has often had a good deal of truth in it. Many a crucial clause has been tucked away in typographical obscurity.

But in recent years, the size (sometimes even the color) of the print in insurance policies has been widely regulated by statute.

For example, a common requirement in the field of health insurance is that the exceptions must be printed at least as plainly as the benefits. Take this case:

A man disabled by rheumatism tried to collect on an insurance policy that promised, in large lettering, to pay benefits for six months. But down in the fine print, the policy cut the payments to only one month for certain diseases — including rheumatism.

Was the man bound by the one-month limitation? A court decided that he was not. Because of the substandard size of the print, said the court, that part of the policy simply had no legal effect.

Even if the print is large enough, it will ordinarily not carry as much weight as language that is typewritten or handwritten into the policy.

Another case involved a life insurance policy in which the words "Double Indemnity For Fatal Accidents" had been inserted by typewriter.

Later, double indemnity was held to be payable, even though there was conflicting language in the printed portion of the policy. The court said that words specially inserted were more likely to be correct than words buried in a standard form.

Of course, anything that clarifies an insurance policy also puts a greater responsibility upon you as the policyholder. The clearer the policy, the less grounds you have for arguing that you did not understand what kind of protection you were getting.

Accordingly, it makes good sense to examine a policy at the time you buy it, rather than waiting until you have suffered a loss. Not even large print, not even a special notation, can tell you anything unless you read it.
